

Raquel Beltrán, General Manager, Department of Neighborhood Empowerment, Los Angeles

LA's 99 Neighborhood Councils connect the diverse communities of Los Angeles to City Hall. Board members are public officials that serve their terms as volunteers, and are elected by the communities they serve. Neighborhood Councils play an important role in helping their communities plan, prepare, and respond to disasters; just one aspect of what Neighborhood Councils do. They also address issues like homelessness, public safety, sustainability, land use, infrastructure, youth and senior services, transportation, and many others. For more information, please visit empowerLA.org. To find your Council, enter your address in the search bar at <https://EmpowerLA.org/city-map>. Thank you!

We gratefully acknowledge these Los Angeles Neighborhood Councils for their contribution.
